Creationists love to argue about things they don't understand. I've read the Bible cover to cover. I used to be a creationist myself. Meanwhile, natural selection, cosmology, biology, archeology, sociology, etc. are all separate sciences, and not all relative to evolution. That's why we shake our heads at your supposed arguments. But I digress; put your proof up. Show us evidence of creationism with peer-tested, replicable proof. I'm still waiting for that. It's the same expectation you have of us.

Don't worry about Ebola! Hundreds a year die of malnutrition in the United States. Thousands die in auto accidents. In fact, driving is the most dangerous thing most people do! These places where people die of Ebola don't have running water in their hospitals. So relax. There's plenty of other things to get worked up about.

Trump supporters have no idea who you are supporting. He supports gun control, abortion and higher taxes. He regularly donates to the Clinton foundation. His running mate of choice for VP is Oprah Winfrey. His wife was not born an American citizen or in America at all. His biggest success that made most of his empire was casinos. He was such a massive failure that until he hired people to run his businesses for him and found a home on reality TV, he would not have had any of the success he's had now. On top of all that, he believes some pretty far-fetched conspiracies. You can fact-check all of this. It comes from his previous campaigns and statements in years past. To be honest, I don't have a problem with some of these things, but I come from a conservative family. I wonder how many of you read that list and doubt its accuracy or don't try and compare that to things the man says that you love to regurgitate when you try and tell me how honest and forthwith he is with words.

The thing is, there is tons of evidence of evolution. There's fossils, biological studies, DNA proof, anatomy proof and decades of observations of it in action in nature (all easily found with the same internet used to submit to the Whine Line). But no amount of evidence will ever satisfy some people because they have chosen not to believe. Yet at the same time, they want us to accept their strange and mystical stories without a shred of evidence. Cognitive dissonance much?

I'M AFRAID OF AMERICANS!

Anyone who says Augusta is the best place to live has clearly not lived or maybe even not been anywhere else. I've lived many, many places and would take many of them over this town. I don't even live here. I live in North Augusta where it's at least quieter and doesn't feel so run down and sad. I only stay here because my family lives here. Really, venture outside our fair city and you will see some towns have it better. Much, much better. Augusta's not bad. But the best? You're kidding yourself.
